Traugh provides exemplary leadership for Wright State golfers

By BRYAN ELLIS
Associate Writer

On every great team, there is a player that leads by example, playing consistently well each week.

On the Wright State golf team, bound for the national championships, that leader is sophomore John Traugh.

In just two years of golf, Traugh has been selected to the NCAA Individuals Championships and led his team to a tournament championship—both this season. He has also set no less than five WSU golf records.

After a fair high school golf career in Columbus, Traugh sat out two years in order to save enough money for school and in the process became a fine amateur golfer.

Along the way, Traugh was paired up with Wright State golf coach Fred Jefferson in the Ohio Amateur Tournament three years ago.

Jefferson became quickly convinced that Traugh had the golf talent to play competitively in college.

"After watching John a couple of holes, I knew he could help us," Jefferson said. "So I followed up on him, and now he's our best player."

Traugh has become the best player by piling up some fine golf scores.

In those two years, he has won an incredible nine tournaments to become the WSU career tournament title record holder. He has also set WSU tournament records for best 18-hole score (69), best 36-hole score (138) and best 54-hole score (217). Finally, he also holds the record for most individual tournament titles in a season with five.

Last spring, Traugh also was the first Raider ever selected to the NCAA Nationals as an individual.

At the nationals he was able to place himself 41st in the country's best field of golfers.

Now Traugh will get a chance to place even higher this year as he will compete both individually and on the WSU team this week at the 1987 NCAA National Championships that run from May 19-23.

Look for big things not only from Traugh this week as he leads his team in championship play, but also in his remaining two years as he continues to rewrite the WSU record books.

the troupe is a company with a "home;" they must move and from the places of performance.

Rolling Stock has been featured on Channel 7's "Images," Channel 45's "In the Area" and in many local papers. They have also been honored by the Ohio House of Representatives for successful work with the disabled.

The upcoming workshop is designed to give a basic introduction to the talents involved in performing. Acting, aesthetics will be discussed, as well as the writing and developing of scripts. The development of the character will be examined along with a look at costume/set design.

Those interested in becoming involved in the workshop (acting, directing, writing, design) should meet in the Celebration Theatre for the 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. program. There will be a break for lunch, and the lunch will be provided. Presenters include Anne Britton, Bob Brown and Rickert. The event is open to the public.

For further information, contact Frank Sullivan at 873-2718.

the eighth inning for his second RBI.

Scannel had a long crash with Van Mill aboard in the Flyer eighth.

After Eugene Knox (all-tourney center fielder) walked and Steve Kirwin singled, Nischwitz went to the bullpen to ace reliever Sutter.

Sutter walked Dan Crivellone to load the bases after recording the inning's first out. Flyer designated-hitter Jim Carroll put a scare into the Raiders as he nailed a long fly ball to left that hooked foul before it dropped over the fence.

"I was calling it foul all the way to the umpire," LaPan said.

The Raiders squelched the Lewis comeback, turning a 6-4-3 double play--all but sinking Lewis.

Sutter KO'd the last Flyer batter to end the tourney, as fans and players hoarded the mound in celebration.

"It was the best game I have ever caught for Schivone," LaPan said. It was the 351st victory for Coach Nischwitz, a former pro pitcher.

Wright State 11 Shippensburg 3

LaPan led the offensive attack going 2-for-3 with a homer and 4 RBI.

Don Bosway pitched a complete game and earned all-tourney honors for the performance. He is now 7-3.

Bleh and Albers, swinging red-hot aluminum, both went 2-for-4 with a RBI apiece.

Wright State 7 Lewis 4

The Flyers were shaken in the fifth inning as the special envoy of fans down the right field line, the "Brew Crew," rocked the baseball field and stands, heckling starting pitcher John Sabitino.

With plenty of fan support, the Raiders scored five times, forcing a pitching change. LaPan had two RBI, and Bailey was 2-for-4.

Greg Karklins (7-3) picked up the win, and Sutter got his record 10th save.

The Raiders pushed seven players onto the all-tournament team. Joining Bleh, LaPan (most outstanding player) and Albers were shortstop Ted Blakeley, designated hitter Bailey and Bosway.

WSU will play New Haven, the Northeast champion, at 4 p.m. on Friday in Montgomery.
